

Andrew Rees

Andrew grew up just outside Cardiff, and graduated in Chemistry from Bristol University. He has been in education for the last 25 years, working previously in two high performing independent schools, before joining St. Olave's in 2004. His roles at St Olave's have included being Head of Chemistry and Head of Science; he joined the Senior Leadership Team in 2009. Andrew was made Acting Headteacher in October 2017, and was very proud to have been appointed as Headteacher in June 2018.

In his spare time, Andrew enjoys running, watching rugby and trips to the theatre with his wife.
